RAM Technologies Earns IBM Premier Business Partner Status

FORT WASHINGTON, PENN. – October 4, 2005 RAM Technologies, a leader in health-care administration software, was named by IBM as a Premier Business Partner. This is the highest level of recognition given by IBM's Business Partner Program and is a result of RAM's consistent performance in product development and customer support in providing total software solutions for the healthcare industry.

IBM Premier Business Partners is an exclusive group of Independent Software Vendors (ISVs) who have a proven record of successful product development and outstanding customer service. To achieve IBM Premier status, a company must demonstrate excellence in their industry and maintain the highest levels of customer satisfaction. Premier level participation for ISVs is by invitation only and is reserved for the top three percent of IBM Business Partners.

"We pride ourselves on meeting and exceeding the expectations of our clients, and place a high value on superior customer support," said Rob Tulio, President of RAM Technologies. "IBM plays an integral role in the solutions we provide and we are pleased to be recognized by them for our achievements."
